USS Ronald Reagan's (CVN 76) Morale Welfare and Recreation (MWR) team held a Monster Run 5K on the ship's flight deck Friday Oct. 26.

Many crewmembers, along with a few superheroes, ghouls and goblins came out for a morning jog on the high seas.

Deadpool was on his best behavior during the entire event and seemed to get along with everyone while Michael Myers did his best not to creep anyone out or terrify too many of the runners by chasing them with his knife.

Adam Wiland, Reagan's Fit Boss, Davey Jones, Reagan's Fun Boss, and the entire MWR Team put together a spectacular and fun-filled event topped off with music and refreshments for the runners.

"We had a great turn out today for the Monster Run 5K. Two Michael Myers, two Pikachus and Deadpool showed up," said Chief Machinist Mate Oliver Murphy, from Groton, Connecticut, Ronald Reagan's MWR Chief. Murphy would like to remind everyone to e-mail Fun Boss at david.jones3@cvn76.navy.mil with your entrance for the scariest door competition and to not forget about the costume contest on the Aft Mess Decks at 2000 Oct. 31.

The ship's MWR team is always planning for the next big event to help the crew enjoy their time at sea. Check out MWR's page on the Gippernet for their ongoing schedule of events and fitness classes. If you have an awesome idea for an MWR event, please share it with your departmental MWR representative so that they can share it at the next command MWR meeting.
